

Il-/legal street art

Mats Karlsson

Boksidan

Il-/legal street art

Mats Karlsson

The "art" that is intended to provide aesthetic dimensions to our common room in Stockholm can be illegal or legal. The illegal ones are by some people regarded as graffiti/vandalism. But the examples on the following pages shows that the illegal street art today is far more than just graffiti and that it sometimes inspires the legal art of and/or further embellish this. Furthermore, the examples show that the illegal street art, as distinct from the legal ones, are often applied to the ugliest of things or places such as the backs of traffic signs, or under bridges.

Translated from Swedish to English by Google translator and Gunnar Björing.

Copyright: Boksidan 2014
Box 558
146 33 Tullinge

Il-/legal street art, ISBN: 978-91-88109-20-0

Go to www.boksidan.com and learn more about life.

”Damage” on legal art

Pustgränd

Hötorget

Flemminggatan

Graffiti under the bridges

Traneberg Bridge

The bridge to Lilla Essingen

Ekelund bridge

Central bridge

Legal? Paintings

Repslagargatan

Mosebacke

St:Eriksplan

Barnhusviken

Tantolunden

Flemmingatan

Knitted "damage"

At Slussen

Hornsgatan

Illegal and legal mosaics

Bridge in the Rålambshov park

Under the bridge to Liljeholmen

Walking path along Bergsundsstrand

Legal/illegal? Three dimensional art

Fatbursparken

Pavement brick at Tessinparken

Roslagsgatan

Illegal paper art

Luntmakargatan

Tantolunden

Roslagstull

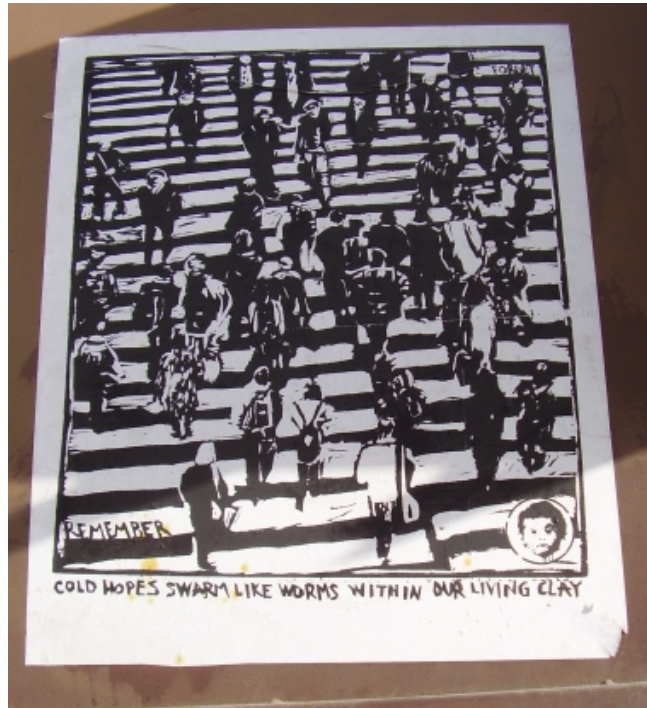

Odengatan

Torsgatan

Tegnérgatan

Gästrikegatan

Fatbursparken

Hornsgatan

Dalagatan

Kungsträdgårdsgatan

Mariatorget

Södra station